COMING BACK.

BY J. MARSHAL HANNA.

The day is hastning to the night,
The waves are hastening to the shore,
And breaking, speak a ship in sight,
That sent them messengers before.

And now no longer on the sands,
Imprinted shall my footsteps be,
For, he, whose love my lip commands,
To-day is coming back to me.

What though his arms should nothing bring,
Nor yet his hands a trophy bear,
If either rightly show my ring,
I'll fill them with a burden there.

The night is hastening to the day,
And we are hastening from the sea,
Nor care I now how far away,
Since he has thus come back to me.

My lips shall open now again,
With happy laughter, long and clear,
For with one battling on the main
My heart has just been gone a year.

THE YOUNG WIDOW.

BY ROBERT JOSSELYN.

She is modest but not bashful,
Free and easy, but not bold.
Like an apple, ripe and mellow,
Not too young, and not too old;
Half inviting, half repulsive,
Now advancing, and now shy,
There is mischief in her dimple;
There is danger in her eye.

She has studied human nature;
She is schooled in all her arts;
She has taken her diploma,
As the mistress of all hearts,
She can tell the very moment
When to sigh and when to smile
Oh a maid is sometimes charming,
But a widow all the while.

Are you sad? how very serious
Will her handsome face become;
Are you angry? she is wretched,
Lonely friendless, tearful dumb;
Are you mirthful? how her laughter,
Silver sounding, will ring out,
She can lure, and catch and play you,
As the angler does the trout.

Ye old bachelors of forty,
Who have grown so bald and wise;
Young Americans of twenty,
With the love locks in your eyes:
You may practice all the lessons,
Taught by cupid since the fall,
But I know a little widow,
Who could win and fool you all.

THE BOY PATRIOT:
A REVOLUTIONARY ADVENTURE.

BY GEO. ALFRED TOWNSEND.

History is filled with the deeds of the men of the Revolution, nor are the patriot women forgotten in the 'burning words' of the analists of "'76;" but where is the historian who tells of the patriotism of the boys of that gloomy period? Who writes their biographies?

There were boys in the Revolution—boys of noble patriotism and dauntless spirit—boys who would not become traitors, though the rack and the gibbet confronted them; boys who toiled with an endurance and boldness unequalled in the annals of a nation, for the independence of the 'Old Thirteen;" and had they now a just desert, the brightest star in America's constrellation, and the wildest stripe in her broad canvas, would be dedicated to the "boys of '76."

Let us relate an instance. It was in the year 1777. Philadelphia was in the hands of Howe and his inhuman soldiery, while the field of Brandywine gave the American people an evidence of British humanity. The inhabitants of Pennsylvania and Delaware were at the mercy of their foes. Bands of Hessian dragoons scoured the vicinity of Philadelphia for miles around, and committed acts which would disgrace a Vandal.

On the evening of a delightful autumn day, a group of boys ranging in age from twelve to seventeen years, were gathered together on the steps of a tenantless storehouse in the little village of Newark, Delaware. The town seemed lonely, and, with the exception of the youthful band already referred to, not a human being met the eye. All the men capable of bearing arms had left their homes to join the army of Washington on the banks of the Schuylkill. A youth of sixteen years, mounted on a barrel, was giving an account of the disastrous battle of Brandywine. James Wilson, the narrator, was a bold boy, enthusiastic in his love for the American cause, and possessed of no little intelligence. His bright blue eye and flaxen hair gave him an effeminate appearance, but beneath that plain home-spun jacket throbbed a heart which never quailed in danger, nor shrunk before any obstacle. His father was the commander of the Delaware regular troops, and his mother was dead. The boy concluded his narration, and was deeply lamenting that he could not join the army.

'I am not old enough,' said he; 'but had I a musket, I would not stand idly here, with my hands hanging useless by my side.'

'Are there no guns of any description in the village?' asked a listening youth.

'None. I have spent nearly a week trying to find one, but my efforts have been of no avail. I strongly suspect that that old Tory, Livingston, has several in his house, but as he permits no one to trespass on his land, I am unable to say positively.'

'Why not take a party and search his dwelling?' asked Frank Howard; 'he has no one there to assist him, except his cowardly son George, and I can thrash him as easy as that;" the boy snapped his fingers to imply the readiness with which he could trounce old Livingston's son.

James Wilson's eyes sparkled with joy. 'If any three boys in this company will help me, I will search old Livingston's house this night. All who are willing to go, just step forward three paces!'

Every boy in that little crowd, without a moment's hesitation, stepped forward.

The boy's eyes flashed like stars. 'Now, by the dead of Bunker Hill, I will search old Livingston's residence, though death stands in my path.'

With a firm tread, and in the utmost silence, the young heroes took up their march for old Squire Livingston's.

Livingston had long been suspected of harboring British spies, and some of his former laborers had reported that he kept up a regular correspondence with the British commander. At all events, he was generally regarded by the genuine whigs as a dangerous man, and, therefore, avoided. His house was situated a short distance from Whiteclay Creek, on the side of a steep hill, surrounded on all sides by tall trees. It was just such a place as one might suppose suitable for the plotting of treason.

At the time James Wilson and his little band left the deserted storehouse in the village of Newark, dusk had given place to the darker shades of night; still, it was not dark. The new moon was shining brightly in the clouds, and every object was perfectly distinguishable. The boys walked firmly forward, maintaining a solemn silence. At length they gained the bank of the creek, and, slowly following the winding path, soon came in sight of the object of their destination. As they came to a litttle log bridge which crossed a shallow rivulet leading into the Whiteclay, James Wilson ordered them to halt.

"Let Frank Howard and myself reconnoitre the premises first, to see whether any danger may be apprehended. All the rest stand here until we return. Make no noise, and keep a constant watch."

James and Frank silently departed, and were soon lost to the eye in the thick woods through which the path ran. Scarcely had they gone from the view of their companions ere the quick ere of Wilson detected a noise. 'Hist!' said he to Frank, as he pulled him behind a gigantic beech-tree. The noise soon resolved itself into human footfall, and in another moment George Livingston, the Tory's son, stood opposite the tree. James Wilson darted from his covert, and tightly gripped the boy by the neck. The cowardly youth trembled like a reed.

'Speak one word,' whispered his captor, 'and I'll toss you into the creek!'

The Tory's son was struck dumb with fright, and before he had recovered from his stupor, found himself in the midst of the whole group of boy-heroes, with the vice-like grip of James and Frank on either arm.

'Now,' said James, 'answer me promptly and truly, or I'll make your position uncomfortable. Do you hear?'

'Yes,' gasped the affrighted youth.

'Who are in your father's house at this moment?'

'I—I—cannot tell,' stammered the half dead boy.

'You shall tell, or—'

'Spare me, and I will disclose everything. When I left the house there was no one there but our own family and—Major Bardstone.'

'Who is he?' asked James.

'I don't know—I don't indeed!'

'Tell!' threatened Frank.

'He is the captain of the Yorkshire dragoons.'

The blue eyes of James glistened with joy, and he soon gained from the Tory's son a revelation which stamped his father as a traitor of the most appalling character. He discovered that old Livingston not only kept up a correspondence with the British commander, but that he had so plotted in his traitorous designs that the little village of Newark was to be burned to ashes, and its women and children left exposed to the mercy of their pitiless foes. The old Tory was to receive as his reward the land whereon the village stood, and an annual pension from the English government.

But stranger than all, the plot was to be consumated that very night, and the Tory's son had been captured while he was going on an errand to a Tory neighbor, about two miles distant. The little band of heroes learned, too that the British troops had secured their horses in Livingston's stable, and intended to descend the creek in a large boat. There were twenty of them, besides their captain. Major Bardstone, the leader of the band, was in temper and heart, a thorough demon, and scrupled not in his cruelty to destroy the slumbering infant or the sickly wife. Not a few in that youthful band of patriots trembled for the safety of a widowed mother or a defenceless sister. Some were for departing immediately, but James Wilson, still retaining his grasp on the Tory's son, ordered all to be silent. The prisoner was tied hand and foot, a thick handkerchief bound over his mouth to prevent him from calling for assistance, and a stout cord fastened to his breast and wound about a tree. All hope of escape forsook George Livingston. Wilson motioned his little band to follow him, and in a few moments they stood on the summit of a high precipice which over hung Whiteclay creek.

'Now boys,' said James Wilson, 'the narrative which we have just heard is true; and, as we have no muskets or ammunition, we must make the best of the occasion. The British band will pass this spot in their boat, and as we have an hour to work, let us busy ourselves in rolling some of these large rocks to the edge of this precipice, and when the red-coats pass below let us sink them to the bottom."

Each boy set immediately to work, and in an incredibly short space of time nine huge rocks, each of half a ton weight, were nicely balanced upon the edge of the giant precipice. The creek at this point was not more than twenty feet wide, and was directly overhung by a mass of rock on which our heroes stood. If the British band descended the creek, they would certainly pass this spot; and, if they passed it, then death was their certain fate. In about an hour the quick ear of Wilson detected the measured beat of muffled oars.

'They are coming,' he whispered; 'let no one drop his rock until I give the word, and then all at once.'

It was a beautiful night to wreak a work of death. The heavens were sprangled with innumerable stars, and every object on which the moonbeams played sparkled with a silvery radiance.

Closer came the doomed royalists, and the hearts of the boy patriots beat wildly in their bosom. Peering cautiously over the cliff, James Wilson saw the Tory boat slowly but surely approaching. An officer stood in the bows, guiding the oarsmen by his orders, and the epaulets on his shoulders told that it was the identical fiend, Major Bardstone.

'Don't drop till I give the order,' again whispered Wilson.

When the boat was about twelve feet from the rock, the boy leader fell securely behind his stone defence, and shouted, 'Who goes there?'

In a moment the oarsmen ceased rowing, and gazed with amazement above them. The impetus which the boat had acquired caused it to drift slowly beneath the rock, and just as it was fairly below, forth came the doomed words:

'Cut loose in the name of liberty!'

Each boy pushed his rock at the instant, and, with one impulse, the gigantic stones fell. A loud shriek from the dark waters told how well the plan had succeeded, and when the exultant boys again looked over the rock, nothing was seen but a few pieces of floating wood. The boat had been burst to pieces, and the occupants had found a grave at the bottom of the Whiteclay. A cry of victory burst from the joyous lips of the youthful patriots, and it was echoed along the old creek in solemn grandeur.

'Now for our prisoner!' cried Frank Howard, bounding ahead; but what was the astonishment of the boys to find that, in efforts to free himself, George Livingston had been caught by the fatal cord and choked to death! There was no time for repining; the traitor and son had met their deserved doom, and there was no one to mourn their loss.

'Such be the end of America's foes forever!' said James Wilson.

Old Livingston's house was searched, and to the surprise of every one, not merely guns, but three brass field-pieces, several barrels of powder, and an abundance of balls, etc., were found concealed in the Tory's cellar. The military stores found here were given over to the American troops, and found a jovial welcome at their head-quarters.—Had not the British party been so signally defeated along the banks of the Whiteclay, the town of Newark, and the whole northern part of the State of Delaware would have been overrun by predatory parties of British soldiers. James Wilson and Frank Howard both joined the army of Green, and served with distinction in the Southern campaigns. Frank fell in the memorable battle of Eutaw Springs, bewailed by all who knew him. James Wilson lost his leg at the siege of Yorktown, and retired to his native village, but mortification ensued, and he expired with the ever to be remembered words on his lips; 'Cut loose, in the name of Liberty!'

The village of Newark still stands, and has become a town of some celebrity.—The scene of the defeat of the British by the band of boy patriots is still pointed out; and it is a sacred spot in the annals of Newark.

Such, reader, were the acts of the boys of '76,' and though they have no monumental pile to preserve their memories, they live in legends, song and verse, where they will exist when history has been swept into obscurity.

Let our literary men redeem from darkness the deeds of American youths, and, while they recount the noble achievements of our revolutionary patriots, let them not forget the boy heroes.

From the London Daily News, July 7th.

THE CELEBRATION OF THE FOURTH OF JULY IN LONDON.—It is a gratifying and suggestive fact. The giant young Republic keeps her birthday in the very heart of the old Monarchy. The Declaration of the Independence of the United States is celebrated in the metropolis of the United Kingdom. The 4th of July has its anniversary at the London Tavern. What a strange deep gulf sever s us from those days when George III. was King and Lord North Minister. What wonderful growths of time have those eventful fourscore years brought forth. Everything at this celebration went well, and in good taste. One thing was said at it too important to the welfare of both nations to be passed over in silence. Mr. Dallas, the able and accomplished American Minister, communicated the welcome intelligence—"That visitation and search, as far as regards American vessels on the high seas in time of peace, is frankly and finally ended.'—This is as it should be. The British Government could not with any regard to prudence insist on the maintenance of a fancied right whose actual exercise was tantamount to a declaration of war, British statesmen could not assume the validity of a claim which one of the most eminent and jealousy national of British judges had long since decisively condemned as utterly untenable.—It was time that the preposterous assumption should at once be abandoned, and Government are entitled to credit for having made the concession frankly and straightforwardly.

In another point of view the observations of Mr. Dallas are well deserving of attention. He states—and evidently states with pride and satisfaction—that diplomacy in America has never risen to the rank of a regular profession or a separate science. No Government has been more fortunate than that of Washington in the selection of those citizens by whom it has been represented at foreign Courts. From Franklin downwards the good sense, the acuteness, and the success of the emissaries of the Republic have been matters of general observation. A main reason is that American ministers abroad are selected freely from those who have attained to eminence in public or professional life at home. The choice of Government is not restricted to the comparatively narrow limits of a single service, nor are the objects of its choice men who have been reared in the fixed traditions of a profession whose rules were formed when Governments were everything and the people nothing; when Europe was a mere system of dynasties, and the sole science of international politics was the due maintenance of the Balance of Power."

THE EMPTY CRADLE.

The death of a little child is to the mother's heart like the dew on a plant from which a bud has just perished. The plant lifts up its head in freshened greenness to the morning light; so the mother's soul gathers, from the dark sorrow which she has passed a brightning of her Heavenly hopes.

As she bends over the empty cradle and fancy brings her sweet infant before her, a ray of divine light is on the cherub face. It is her son, still, but with the seal of immortality on his brow. She feels that Heaven is the only atmosphere where her precious flower could unfold without a spot or blemish and she would not recall the lost. But, the anniversary of his departure seems to bring his spiritual presence near. She indulges in that tender grief which soothes like an opiate in pain, all hard passages and cares in life.

The world to her is no longer filled with human love and hope in the future; so glorious with Heavenly love and joy, she has treasures of happiness which the worldly, unchastened heart never conceived.—The bright fresh flowers with which she has decorated her room, the apartment where her infant died, are mementoes of the far brighter hopes now dawning on her dreams.

She thinks of the glory and beauty of the new Jerusalem, where the little foot will never find a thorn among the flowers to render a shoe necessary. Nor will a pillow be wanted for the dear head reposing on the breast of the Saviour, and she knows her infant is there in that world of eternal bliss.

She has marked one passage in that book now emphatically to her the Word of Life now lying closed on the toilet table, which she daily reads. "Suffer little children to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of Heaven."—Educational Journal.

GUMBO SOUP.—Who has not heard of the famous Gumbo soup of the Southwest, and who has ever visited New Orleans without luxuriating on it, and declaring it the very best soup ever conceived of? We have often wondered why it is not generally made throughout the South, where all the ingredients are easily obtainable. Here is a recipe for making it, furnished to the Mobile Mercury by Mrs. L. H. Wright:

After your chicken is prepared, fry it to a nice brown color; season with red or black pepper and salt; have a large soup plate full of okra; chop fine, throwing away the heads and tips of the same, as they are hard. Always use the long white, it being more tender and better flavored than the other kinds: stir in this with the chicken, and it will partake of the taste and seasoning of the chicken. Fry it a little and have ready some boiling water, pouring over say three quarts and allow a sufficient quantity to boil away; let all boil down until the chicken becomes perfectly tender, so that it may easily be torn with a fork. If fried, it requires more pepper and salt, which should be added before it is thoroughly cooked. The Gumbo thus made will be very thick. If you do not like it made in this way, do not boil so much, as it spoils all kinds of soup to boil down and fill up again; as many do with cold water, and besides it is never so rich. Have rice boiled tender, but be careful that the grains are separate. Of course, it is both wholesome and rich.

A SOUTH CAROLINA SENATOR ON THE STUMP.—Senator Hammond of South Carolina made a speech a few days since at a dinner given him by his political friends. He said the position and prospects of the South, in the Union, were now more hopeful and encouraging than ever; and her ability greater than ever to maintain her rights in the Union.

Still, however, he was aware, and would not disguise it, that we were surrounded by perils, and sleepless vigilance was still our policy and necessity; and a Southern confederacy was a possible and not improbable event in reference to continued or renewed Northern aggression on Southern rights. In such event, he would not wait for the whole South to move, but while opposed to action by a single State, to an inconsiderable number of States, the movement, if come it must, would doubtless have to be inaugurated by four or five States. It was possible that the free soilers might succeed in electing their own candidate for the Presidency in the next election; but he doubted whether the body of the South would be willing to make the issue of disunion on a single Presidential triumph of the adversary, but its repetition would undoubtedly be the knell of the Union. In the meantime, he was for sustaining the present national administration, which had periled all for the South, and especially for standing by that gallant and generous band of Northern men, who had fearlessly and unselfishly stood up for the constitutional rights of the South, with an absolute certainty that they were sealing their political doom, and should the issue finally come, lapse of time would only find the South the better prepared for it, in unity of interest and feeling, and in increased strength and resources. In the meantime, too, let the South remain united, and as a unit, she would in the future, as she had done in the past, rule the Union, rightfully because constitutionally, and, if ever compelled to set up for herself, she would do so with population, territory and resources, that would enable her to take her coequal place among the nations of the earth.

EXTRAORDINARY FREAK OF A BLIND HORSE.—Almost Incredible.—The Washington Star tells the following story:

On Wednesday last, a blind horse which had just previously been detached from a cart in which he had been hard at work hauling bricks all day, took fright and run at a headlong pace across Pennsylvania avenue, at a short distance east of the Capitol; when he arrived at the side opposite that from whence he started, he encountered a tree box, which he tore down together with the tree inside it, (a sapling, some six inches through at the trunk.)—This act did not impede his progress in the least, for he continued straight ahead, and the next thing he encountered was the fourteen inch wall of a rough cast brick house, inhabited by Mr. John Smith and his family. Incredible as this story may appear, he ran against the wall with such force as to break it entirely through, making a breach through which a good sized man can creep, and otherwise producing a fissure as wide as a man's hand, reaching upward as far as the second story of the house.

In running against the house the horse placed his fore feet on the bulkhead cellar door in front, through which they broke, barking his legs in fine style. The force of the blow against the wall sent a sofa inside flying across the room, together with about a barrel full of bricks which had been detached from the wall. Backing out of all this mischief, as well as he could, this animated battering ram wheeled about and tore off through the street into a large marble yard near by, where he tumbled heels over head several times among the blocks of marble, finally entangling himself between them to such an extent that he could make no further headway, and only then he caved in. He was captured and marched off to his stable, when his pedal terminations were properly dressed. On Friday he was again put to work and carted bricks all day most industriously. To any one that may be at all skeptical as to accuracy of this statement, we can only say go and see for yourselves, as we did.

A VERY HARD CASE.

The New York Times tells the following. 'An enterprising young man in Albany, a few years ago, who had, what he considered to be a valuable medicine, which he wished to sell for the benefit of mankind, prevailed upon an old fellow of his acquaintance to join him in business, and furnish him with the necessary capital to go ahead with. He came to New York, and at once entered upon a most profligate and ruinous course of advertising which, at last, excited the alarm of the old gentleman in Albany, who came down to inspect the accounts of the concern, and to his utter consternation he discovered that his prodigal partner had spent his entire capital the first year in advertising. But, examining a little further, he discovered that there was placed to his credit more than five times the amount of the capital he had furnished, as his share of the profits. The astonishment of the poor old gentleman proved too much for him, for he went home and died in a fit. If merchants do not want to get rich too fast they should be careful not to advertise.'

☞ 'I say, Jones, how is it that your wife dresses so magnificently, and you always appear out at the elbow?'

Jones (impressively and significantly)—'You see, Thompson, my wife dresses according to the Gazette of Fashion, and I dress according to my ledger!'

(Thompson smells a rat, and immediately tries to get his little account settled—and don't succeed.)—Punch.

☞ 'I Don't believe its any use this vaccination' said a Yankee. 'I had a child vaccinated, and he fell out of the winder a week arter, and got killed.

MRS. PARTINGTON'S VISIT TO THE TAINTED FIELD.—"Did the guard present arms to you, Mrs. Partington?" asked a commissary, as he met her at the entrance of the marquee.

"You mean the century," said she smiling. "I have heard so much about the tainted field that I believe I could deplore an attachment into line myself, and secure them as well as an officer. You asked me if the guard presented arms. He didn't, but a sweet little man with an epilepsy on his shoulder, a smile on his face did, and asked me if I wouldn't go into a tent and smile. I told him that we could both smile outside, when he politely touched his chateau and left me.'

The commissary presented a hard wooden stool upon which she reposed herself.

'This is one of the seats of war, I suppose?' said she. 'Oh, what a hard lot soldier is objected to! I don't wonder at the hardening influence of a soldier's life. What is that for?' asked she, as the noise of a cannon saluted her ear. 'I hope they aint firing on my account.' There was a solicitude in her tone as she spoke, and she was informed it was only the Governor, who had just arrived upon field. 'Dear me!' said she, 'how cruel it is to make the old gentleman come away down here, when he is so feeble he has to take his staff with him wherever he goes.' She was so affected at the idea that she had to take a few drops of white wine to restore her equilibrium, and to counteract the dust from the 'tainted field.'—Boston Post.

OUR JOKERS.

If a friend tells a joke on us we expect to meet and treat it is a joke—and if we tell a joke on a friend we shall expect him to laugh at his own expense, just as we do. It is the case, sometimes that 'people get mad at fun, or what is intended to make merry, and do something ugly which spoils all the fun. That's decidedly in bad taste. We intend to offend no one, with our humor, and none can become offended if they are our friends, truly, and are willing to give us due allowance for the good nature with which all our purposes are tempted. We have no enemies—therefore, we have the kindest feelings for all our readers, and would not, if we knew it, write anything which might wound the most sensitive nature. We make these remarks in order that our subscribers may not think strangely of it, if, at times, we shall take the liberty of telling a funny joke on them.

Raleigh (N. C.) Giraffe.

A SENSIBLE CHANGE:—'So, Barney McGuckin,' exclaimed a tall, robust Irishman on Broad Street, the other day, to a diminutive, dried up, weased-face individual, also from the green sod, as he caught the latter by the throat and squeezed what little breath he had in him nearly out of his body—'so, Barney McGuckin, yees be the mon as is goin' to break me head in, be yees?'

'Och! mother o' Moses, Misther O'Brien, what is it ye mane?' gasped Barney, in a fright.

'Why, bad luck to yees, ye little miserable, hop-o'-me-thumb! and din't yees tell Dinnis Roony, and Larry McGee, and the rist o' thim, that ye'd break me head the fust time ye got the chance? Tell me that!'

Faith, Misther O'Brien, of I ded—I've changed my mind entirely—so I have.' O'Brien's wounded pride was satisfied, and, with the magnanimity of the Celtic race, he let up his antagonist, and allowed him to walk quickly away.

AN INDEPENDENT NIGGER.—In his recent abolition speech, Lord Brougham related the following anecdote:

Lord Lyndhurst gave me a short time since an anecdote of a gentleman who was connected with the Hague, and who, on one occasion, received an invitation to the house of a Cuban gentleman, a negro proprietor of a large estate, where he was received with the utmost hospitality, and treated elegantly. He said he was rather entertained when, after dinner was over, his colored host said that he was a man without any prejudice whatever and that whenever he found person honest, honorable, and respectable in every point of view, he held out the hand of fellowship to him, even though his color were as white as that table-cloth.

THE AQUARIUM IN LITERATURE.—A new means of investigation is thus open to the naturalist; a new book of texts, illustrative of the beneficence of God and the wonderful harmony of nature, is here unfolded for the preacher and moralist; a new collection similies for the essayist or for popularu se, so that in future an undecided man may be compared to a sea anemone, which has'nt made up its mind whether to be a fish or a plant; and, as awkward 'as a newt,' 'as nimble as a shrimp,' 'as pugnacious as a stickleback,' 'as moody as a pike,' we may expect will become 'household words.' And the poet will have a new province for illustration and embellishment; and to in all open a beautiful and instructive source of deligh.—Christian Register.

VIRGINIA WHEAT CROP.—An Old Point correspondent says: 'The farmers sojourning here all unite in saying that the present crop of wheat, in quantity and quality, is far inferior to that of any crop for eight years. In many parts of the State not half a crop has been made. The quantity shipped to Baltimore this season from tide-water Virginia, will be far less, probably not two-thirds of former years. If accounts be true the millers in Richmond may not get as much wheat as they require to keep their immense mills in operation.—Herald.

A PREGNANT MONSTER.—The Italian Medical Gazette states that a woman, aged 30, was delivered of five daughters at a birth on the 16th ult., at Rovigo, after a pregnancy of seven months. One lived only two hours, and the others dropped off one by one in the course of forty-eight hours. Three of the latter had, the above named journal asserts, a full complement of front and back teeth.

ELIZABETH CITY:

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 10, 1858.

The Old North State FOREVER!

GLORY ENOUGH FOR ONE DAY!!

As the returns flow in from different quarters of the State, the Democratic majority continues to increase and swell, and we think we are within reasonable bounds when we estimate the majority of Judge Ellis for Governor at TWENTY THOUSAND VOTES! Many counties that have hitherto been regarded as hopelessly bound to the opposition, have wheeled into the Democratic line, and given handsome majorities for Judge Ellis; while those that have gone against us, have done so by diminished majorities.

In the Legislature, too, we have made some gains, as far as heard from. Washington County has elected a Democratic Commoner, and Tyrrell and Hyde have in all probability elected a Democratic Senator.

Thus do we blast the hopes of the K. N.'s and renegade Democrats for Gubernatorial and Senatorial honors! The great voice of the unterrified Democracy has been heard in thunder tones, and opposition in every form has been overwhelmed, annihilated, crushed! So may it ever be, and confusion and disaster attend the enemies of Democracy!

HUZZA FOR CURRITUCK AND CAMDEN!

Know-Nothingism Slightly Killed!

BRILLIANT DEMOCRATIC VICTORY!

We take peculiar pleasure in recording the brilliant and overwhelming triumph of the gallant Democracy of the Senatorial District composed of these two counties over the Know Nothings on Thursday last. We suspect that it was the most hotly contested battle-field in the State; and we rejoice to know that the proud banner of Democracy now floats triumphant in the breeze! Glorious old Currituck!—she has covered herself all over with imperishable fame! Nobly did she breast the fury of the storm, and nobly wears her honors! And Camden, too—the Spartan Band of Camden Democrats—how bravely did they bear themselves even in the thickest of the fight and against the most fearful odds! Unawed alike by fear and unseduced by favor, they not only defended their own outposts, but made considerable inroads upon the enemy.—They deserve to be placed side by side with the noble Democracy of Currituck, and to share fully in the honor of the victory. They have paid a merited compliment to their worthy and estimable fellow-citizen—the Senator elect from that District—C. C. Williams, Esq., than whom a better Democrat or worthier man could not have been selected.

But the Democracy of these counties need no tribute from our feeble pen.—Look at the figures—they speak for themselves. All honor, we repeat, to the indomitable Democracy of Currituck and Camden!

☞ With this No. begins the ninth volume of the "DEMOCRATIC PIONEER." And as we are in want of money at this time, we respectfully ask those of our subscribers who have not done so, to walk up to the Captain's office and settle; and our friends who cannot conveniently walk up, may send money to us at our risk.

WANTED.—A SON OF CRISPIN.—A writer from Weldon, N. C., says there is not a boot and shoe-maker in that place, and none within eight miles of it, to make a boot or mend a piece of harness. A good workman, who would keep sober and attend to his business, would do well there.

MEM.—Pasquotank county gave Smith 532 votes last year. On Thursday last, she gave Pool 531 only—a slight advance backwards! The K. N's. can put that in

JUDGE DOUGLAS.

The individual whose name heads this article, has excited, for some time back, more interest than any one individual of the same number of inches in the country. Occupying, as he did, an enviable position in the Democratic party, his erratic course has drawn forth comments from every quarter, and his name has been the burden of every stump speech, and constituted the staple for newspaper articles since the first enunciation of his sentiments upon the Kansas question. When it was known that Judge Douglas would oppose the Lecompton constitution, and throw the weight of his splendid abilities in favor of those who were arrayed against the administration upon this important measure, the Democratic party could but grieve for the defection and infatuation of one, who had, by his herculean blows, driven the cohorts of Black Republicanism before him as the chaff is swept before the power of the hurricane. The Democratic party, the people of the South, had learned to regard the name of Douglas as synonymous with constitutional rights. So ably, so manfully, so gallantly, had he battled in the cause of equal rights and the constitution, baring his strong arm for the fight and wielding his mighty battle axe to the terror and dismay of the hordes of fanatical and infuriated assailants, that all eyes turned to him as the leader in future contests, and looked forward with confidence to the day when his gallant services should be rewarded by the suffrages of a grateful and admiring people for the first office within their gift. In a moment of infatuation, led heedlessly on by his restless and ungovernable ambition, unable to abide his time, he breaks through all restraints, sets at naught the dictates of prudence and of patriotism, throws himself in opposition to the party that had elevated and honored him, affiliates with his old enemies, and the enemies of the Union, in their efforts to defeat an important measure of Democratic policy, becomes the leader of the Black Republican phalanx, and hurls a proud defiance in the teeth of the administration. Before this fatal step was taken, never were the prospects of any man brighter; before the adoption of this suicidal course, the goal of his highest ambition loomed up and opened its portals to receive him; before he determined to take this fearful leap, his feet rested upon the topmost round, and it was only left for him to step off upon the pinnacle that he had so long labored to attain. Fatal resolution! its execution blighted forever the hopes of his friends and raised a feeling of malignant delight in the bosoms of those who had dogged his footsteps and pursued him with a vindictiveness that would have shamed the presiding devil of the infernal regions. Lucifer's descent to his eternal home was not more rapid than that of Stephen A. Douglas from the confidence and esteem of the Democracy. They viewed his course with regret, and grieved for his fall. When Abraham raised the knife to strike his first born in obedience to the command of his Maker, the pang that tore his bosom was not greater than that which ran through the Democratic heart when a rigid adherence to principle required the sacrifice of him upon whom had been lavished its homage and its adoration. He fell, and there was mourning in the ranks of his friends; he fell, and Black Republicanism triumphed and gloried over the lost one. There were many, however, among his old friends, who anxiously looked for some evidence of repentance, and stood with open arms ready to receive the wanderer; there were many who cherished a longing desire that Mr. Douglas would retrace his steps and bring his giant energies once more to the assistance of a cause for which, years of toil, anxiety, and devotion had been spent. Disappointment awaited them, and they had the mortification of seeing him enter heart and soul into the schemes and machinations of the unscrupulous and malevolent foes of the administration. Time passed on, and the battle for which he had enlisted was over. Of its result, we have no intention of speaking. Our purpose is alone with Mr. Douglas. With the close of that struggle came a temporary repose, and again hopes were entertained that better counsels might prevail, and that Judge Douglas, willing to bury the past, would endeavor to regain a portion of that confidence which he had lost. Such was the course shadowed forth for him by his friends, and very many of his most ardent admirers hailed the prospect of his return with open demonstrations of satisfaction. They proclaimed their readiness to bury the hatchet, to let bygones be bygones, and to once more fight side by side against the common enemy.

Again were they destined to have these hopes blasted; and in a recent speech delivered by Judge Douglas at Chicago, he shows his determination to revive the old difference, to re-open the sore which had partially healed, and to continue his war upon the compromise of the last Congress.

Had Mr. Douglas yielded an acquiescence to this salutary measure, and advised a re-union of the Democracy, instead of venting his wrath upon an extinct issue, the sentiments which he afterwards uttered, partaking, as they do, of the loftiest patriotism and sound conservative statesmanship, he would have had the warm sympathies of every democratic heart, in the arduous struggle in which he is now engaged. The attack upon the English bill proves that Mr. Douglas has not lost any of his bitterness, or wavered in his determination to keep alive the fires of discord in his wrath. The power to calm the disturbed elements was with him; why has he not used it? why has he not, if disposed to restore peace and tranquility, been willing to consign the past to the past, and deal with the living instead of an extinct issue? Let his friends answer the question.

Yet with all this, our sympathies are with Mr. Douglas in his pending contest, not that we approve or sanction his course, but, because between him and his opponent, Lincoln, we cannot hesitate. Lincoln is an ultra Black Republican, a fanatic of the worst stamp, running over with the damnable heresies that render his party odious and detestable. Judge Douglas, in the speech referred to, delivers himself of much to approve; of much to make us prefer him over his competitor; but it contains that which must continue the barrier raised between himself and the Democratic party. Whilst we say this, we cannot sanction the violent attacks which are daily being made upon him. An emphatic condemnation of his course would suffice; to do more, is to strengthen the hands of the Black Republican forces arrayed against him.

DEMOCRATIC JUBILEE!

The Democracy of Currituck and Camden Counties will celebrate their recent brilliant victory by giving a PUBLIC DINNER on TUESDAY next, 17th August, in the beautiful grove adjoining the residence of Wm. G. Wilson, Esq., on Indian Ridge.

A general invitation is hereby extended to everybody—Democrats, Whigs and Know-Nothings—and a special invitation to the ladies, to attend. Come up from the islands and the banks—ample preparation will be made. An immense gathering is anticipated. Several speakers will be in attendance. Let there be a vast outpouring of the people!

THE CROPS.

The wheat crop in this, and the adjacent county, Perquimans, has been pretty generally threshed out, and the yield is much smaller than was anticipated. With some it is almost a complete failure. One field of three hundred and fifty acres yielded seven hundred bushels, and from another containing nearly the same amount there was gathered between five and six hundred. The corn crop promises but little better at this time. It is suffering, drying up for the want of rain, and if it does not receive moisture very soon it will be too late. It has already sustained material injury, too much to render it probable that an average crop can be gathered.

PHILADELPHIA, August 5.—The President, at Bedford Springs, received the first intimation of the success of the cable through the agency of the Associated Press. He has been notified by Cyrus W. Field that as soon as both ends are landed and connected with the land wires, the message of Victoria would be sent to him, and the line kept free until his reply had been transmitted.

At Boston, New York, this city, Baltimore and Washington, the greatest enthusiasm exists on account of the achievement.

The report was at first believed to be a hoax, and some still withhold their belief, from the shortness of the time since the junction in mid-ocean was effected.

There is most intense anxiety to know if the Agamemnon has arrived at Valentia.

[FOURTH DESPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5, 10 P. M.—The success of the telegraph fleet is received every where with unbounded gratification.

THE CATTLE DISEASE.—Since we called attention to this subject in our paper of Thursday, we have heard of several cases of the disease in Richmond county, N. C., and even of some in this town. They do not appear to be as virulent or fatal as the cases represented to be at the South; yet sufficiently so to call for the utmost watchfulness against using the milk or eating the flesh of diseased cattle, and for promptness in taking measures to relieve the sick animals. The symptoms we have heard of are those of founder, of cramp in the stomach, of sore mouth and udder, and of refusal or inability to eat.

Since the above was in type, we learn that a number of deer have been found in the woods, dead, evidently of the same disease. And further, that one gentleman of this county, North of this town, has had 53 cattle sick. None of them have died, owing to prompt and careful treatment, though he fears that two or three will die. It is also reported that several cattle have died in this county, West of town.—Fay. Observer.

J. PARKER JORDAN, ESQ.

At Shocco we had the pleasure of meeting this able, eloquent, and true-hearted Democrat. Not having seen him since he served in the House of Commons in 1854–5, we were glad to find his health and spirits give promise, that for years to come he will be, as in years past, the indefatigable champion of democratic principles. It is not in the legislature alone, that Mr. J. has proved his devotion to the interests of his country. It will be remembered that his speeches in New York, during the Presidential campaign, made a profound impression upon the democracy of that city, where he ably supported the rights and interests of his Southern fellow-citizens. His efforts elicited the warm encomiums of the Northern democratic press. An address at Greensboro, lately delivered proves that he is a chaste and accomplished orator on other topics than politics.

Mr. J. bids fair from his abilities and influence in the East to take a high place in the respect and confidence of his political brethren.

Warrenton News.

☞ Will you please to permit a lady to occupy this seat?' said a gentleman to another, the other day, in a railroad car. 'Is she an advocate of woman's rights?' asked the gentleman who was invited to 'vacate.' 'She is,' replied he who was standing. 'Well, then, let her take the benefit of her doctrine, and stand up.'

SUCCESS OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.

The Old World and the New Telegraphically United.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Aug. 5.—The U. S. steamer Niagara arrived at Trinity Bay yesterday with the great news of the success of the Atlantic Telegraphic enterprise. The cable has been successfully laid, and the western end of the cable will be landed to-day. The signals have been perfectly transmitted throughout the voyage.

[SECOND DESPATCH.]

The following despatch has been received from Cyrus W. Field, Esq., of the Atlantic Telegraph Company:

TRINITY BAY, Aug. 5, 1858.—To the Agents of the Associated Press:—The Atlantic Telegraph Fleet sailed from Queenstown on Saturday, July 17th, and met in mid-ocean on the 28th. Made the splice in the cable at 1 o'clock P. M. on Thursday, the 29th, and then separated—the British steamers Agamemnon and Valorous bound to Valencia, and the Niagara and Gorgon to this place, where we arrived yesterday, and this morning the end of the cable will be landed.

It is 1,698 nautical or 1,950 statute miles from the Telegraph House at the head of Valentia harbor to the Telegraph House at Bay Bulls, Trinity Bay, and for more than two-thirds of this distance the water is over two miles in depth. The cable has been paid out from the Agamemnon at about the same speed as the Niagara. The electric signals sent and received through the whole cable was perfect.

The machinery for paying out the cable worked most satisfactorily, and it was not stopped a single moment.

Captain Hudon, Messrs. Everett and Woodhouse, engineers, the electricians, the officers of the ships, and in fact every man on board the Telegraph fleet, exerted himself to the utmost to make the expedition successful; and by the blessing of Divine Providence it has succeeded.

After the end of the cable has been landed and connected with the land line of telegraph, and the Niagara has discharged some cargo belonging to the Telegraph Company she will go to St. Johns for coal and then proceed at once to New York.

(Signed) CYRUS W. FIELD.

THE "OLD LOG CABIN" BURNED TO THE GROUND.

The "Old Log Cabin," so famous in political history, has gone at last! It was the residence of Gen. Harrison, at North Bend, about fifteen miles below the city, when he was nominated for President, and was made famous by a thousand songs in the campaign of 1840. Miniature imitations were erected in every corner of the land, and praises of

"The rough log cabin,
That tells of olden time," were upon every tongue, and probably had quite as much influence in the election as any other subject that was canvassed. But its latch-string has disappeared at last.

We have no minute details of the conflagration, but learn from passengers who arrived by the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad yesterday morning between 1 and 2 o'clock, that as the train arrived at North Bend, the Old Log Cabin was enveloped in flames, and that its destruction was complete. It was occupied by Col. W. H. H. Taylor, (who married a daughter of Gen. Harrison,) and family, and we learn that such was the rapid progress of the fire, and so late its discovery, that the members of the household barely escaped in their night clothes!

Of course nothing was saved in the way of furniture or documents, and the probability is, that many valuable papers left by President Harrison, together with articles cherished as relics of the old hero, and of the early history of the west, have been destroyed with the building. The only portrait of Mrs. Harrison in existence (painted by Beard,) with two or three of the General, taken at different periods of his life, are also probably destroyed.

Mrs. Harrison, the widow of President Harrison, fortunately was not in the dwelling; the venerable lady at present being at the residence of Hon. J. Scott Harrison, a son of Gen. H., a few miles below the old homestead.

North Bend is not only famous as the unpretending residence of President Harrison, but occupies no mean position in western history. It was the first landing place of John Cleves Symmes, the original patentee of all the land between the two Miamis, and was at one time regarded as the rival of Cincinnati, or "Fort Washington." At North Bend Judge Symmes projected the great "Miami City," and went so far as to map out streets, lawns, public squares, and all the arrangements for a city of the first magnitude; but a fortunate incident turned the tide in favor of the present site of our flourishing metropolis, and "North Bend" has ever since remained a beautiful rural retreat from the dust, impurities, and busy throng of the city.

NEW YORK POLITICS—NOMINATION OF GERRIT SMITH FOR GOVERNOR.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 4.—The "Liberty Party" Convention re-assembled this afternoon and nominated Gerrit Smith for Governor.

ALBANY, Aug. 4.—The Democratic State Central Committee met at the Delavan House to day, and appointed the 15th of September, at Syracuse, for the State Convention, the representation to be one delegate from each Assembly district.

The Judges of the Supreme Court of the State, and the County and Superior Courts of New York are in session at the Capitol, to fix the rates of the Courts for the two ensuing years.

☞ The Cincinnati Gazette of the 4th inst., says. 'We had hoped to have more complete and definite information this morning as to the results of the elections on Monday in Kentucky and Missouri.—So far as received the returns indicate that the Administration has again carried Kentucky, probably by a reduced majority.—From Missouri we have nothing of any amount except as to the Congressional election in the St. Louis District.'

STATE ELECTIONS.

MISSOURI.—The returns from the St. Louis district show the defeat of F. P. Blair, Jr., Republican, and the election of Mr. Barrett, Democrat, by about 600 majority. Full returns, except two small precincts, foot up as follows:

Barrett, Democrat, 6,459; Blair, Republican, 5,820; Breckenridge, American, 4,996.

ANOTHER CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.—The French physicians are at present much interested in a new treatment for consumption, introduced by J. F. Churchill, an American physician in Paris. Dr. Churchill's theory of consumption is that it is owing to an undue waste or an insufficient supply of phœphorous in the system.

To supply this want he administers the hypophosphates of lime and soda, in doses of from five to twenty grains daily in a small quantity of sweetened water. In a paper read by him before the Academy of Medicine at Paris he gave an account of forty-one cases treated in this way with success. He insists that the cure of consumption in the second and third stages (at a period consequently when there can be no uncertainty as to the nature of the disease) can be obtained in all cases by this treatment, except when the existing lesion of the lungs is of itself sufficient to produce death. He also says that these substances have not only a curative effect but will if used whenever there exists a suspicion of the disease prevent its development, and thus act as a preservative with regard to consumption, just as vaccination does with regard to small-pox.

HEALTHY CONDITIO[N] OF FOREIGN TRA[DE]

The statistics for May show [a] and, because gradual, a healt[hy] ment in the finances and com[merce] country. The fact that this [is] is slowly and not suddenly pro[duced] one of the most encouraging f[eatures] our financial affairs. The pressu[re] upon us last summer suddenly as [a] thunder from an August sky; [with] havoc, terror and bankruptcy over [all] of the land. A sudden recuperation reckless launching out again into [the] of speculation and extravagance [with] ominous of another and more [disastrous] collapse of credits and business.

Very different from this, however, the real state of the case. The country is pursuing a rigid system tailment and liquidation. Our trade is the barometer of our trade; and every indication of our commerce proves that economy trenchment are the reigning principle the whole business of the country are selling more in quantity than did before—though, owing to the of our staples, we realize from our a smaller value than we have done two past years, counted in dollars cents. While the export trade country is more active than ever, port trade is healthily curtailed. for example, the comparative [figures] May for three years. The total imports at New York in this month been as follows:

|---|---|
| 1856, | $ [illegible] |
| 1857, | [illegible] |
| 1858, | [illegible] |

The figures show a curtailment imports of a month at a single more than seven millions of dollars the importations of past years.

If we take the whole five months the first of January to the end of the three years, we shall discover portional aggregate decline of im the period. The total entries of New York for the first five months of three years were as follows:

|---|---|
| 1856, | $[illegible] |
| 1857, | [illegible] |
| 1858, | [illegible] |

Here is a falling off of imports year, in five months at one port, of [illegible] 000. the curtailment being greater total present importation. Now, two-thirds of the importations of are made at New York, we may that the curtailment in the foreign of the whole country in the first of the present year below those has been between $75,000,000 and 000,000. If we suppose this curtailment and retrenchment to to the end of the current calendar even to half the extent in the months as in the last five months have a curtailment in the imports the country for the whole year $110,000,000 to $120,000,000 think the curtailment will be great this. This falling off in our purchases would, of course, produce great relief in the business of the occurring, as of course it would conjunction with a much larger tionate contraction in all the our domestic credits.

While this curtailment is occurring our foreign purchases, our exports sales of domestic produce abroad unally large in quantity. The low ruling for all of them very materially duce their representative value in and cents in the statistical tables commerce.

Our exports of domestic produce clusive of specie, from New York month of May for three years, have as follows:

|---|---|
| 1856 | $[illegible] |
| 1857 | [illegible] |
| 1858 | [illegible] |

This falling off, though nothing tity, is in value about a million quarter, which, compared with the off of imports at the same port for month, of seven millions, makes a vorable exhibit indeed. The exports domestic produce exclusive of specie New York for the five first months present year, compared with the same period of the two past years been as follows:

|---|---|
| 1856 | $[illegible] |
| 1857 | [illegible] |
| 1858 | [illegible] |

This falling off has been only in while there has been an increase in tities exported. This diminution values, of seven millions for months, contrasts very favorably falling off, in the same period, in ports at the same port, which as stated above, were $54,000,000 can very readily afford to sell less en millions when we are buying fifty-four millions.

The only cause of regret and ment which can be found in healthful and satisfactory condition foreign commerce, is the effect of a state of things produces upon revenues. The appropriations are on the scale of the plethoric the treasury which existed in 1856 while the revenues of the treasury actually reduced by half. The received from the customs at the New York in May 1856 were $[illegible] while those which were received in month at that port were only $[illegible] Taking the figures for the first five of 1856, and comparing them for the same period of the present we shall find a falling off in receipts single port of New York, of ten dollars; those for the first five months having been $19,014,440, while the same period of the present year been only $9,403,460.

We think, however, that we willing to repine at an untoward of our federal revenues which is by a sound and recuperative our foreign and domestic commerce the government is put to the borrowing, it is only because are getting rid of their own and curtailing their late habits of gance and speculation. They cile themselves to the lesser evil eration of the greater good; and more readily, as the strait of the ment is but the corollary and of their own disembarrassment.

CURIOUS PHENOMENON.—A [illegible] on the farm of Hon. John G. [illegible] Montezuma, Ind., two large [illegible] forth from the earth, and continue off such volumes of water that [illegible] in the neighborhood have been with standing pools and ponds.

TWO VALUABLE FARMS FOR SALE

WISHING TO STOP FARMING, I offer for sale my two farms, "Woodlawn" and "Cumberland." The farm I live upon is situated on Perquimans river, in Harvey's Neck, and is in a fine state of cultivation, well adapted to the growth of Corn, Wheat and Cotton; has on it a good DWELLING and every necessary out-building. There is about THREE HUNDRED acres cleared, and a deading of One Hundred and Twenty-Five Acres, nearly all ditched and ready to come in. There is between eight and nine hundred acres of LAND attached to the farm; the portion not cleared is well set in pine, oak, gum, hickory, &c. I deem it unnecessary to say any more—those wishing to purchase a good and convenient farm will do well to come and examine the premises.

The other Farm is situated on the North side of Perquimans river, about four miles from Hertford, on the road recently cut through to Elizabeth City. There is about one hundred and fifty acres cleared, and a deading of about twenty acres, all ditched and ready to come in. This farm contains between two and three hundred acres, and will yield as much Corn as any land in the county. The buildings are not very good, but comfortable. I will also sell stock and farming utensils on the farms.

A liberal credit will be given. Come and see.

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL.

DOCTOR JOHNSTON,

THE founder of this Celebrated Institution, offers the most certain, speedy, and only effectual remedy in the world for Gleets, Strictures, Seminal weakness, Pains in the Loins, Constitutional Debility, Impotency, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Affections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin; and all those serious and melancholy Disorders arising from the destructive habits of Youth, which destroy both body and mind. These secret and solitary practices are more fatal to their victims than the song of the Syrens to the mariners Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes of anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellects, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with all confidence.

Marriage.

Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, organic debility, deformities, &c., should immediately consult Dr. Johnston, and be restored to perfect health.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. Johnston, may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

Organic Weakness

immediately cured and full vigor restored.

This disease is the penalty most frequently paid by those who have become the victims of improper indulgencies. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue.—Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of Procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms to both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged; the physical and mental powers weakened, nervous debility, dyspepsia, palpitation or the heart, indigestion, a wasting of the frame, cough, symptoms of consumption, &c.

OFFICE—No. 7, South Frederick Street, Seven Doors from Baltimore St., East side, up the steps. ☞ Be particular in observing the name and number, or you will mistake the place.

A Cure Warranted, or no Charge Made, in from One to Two Days.

NO MERCURY OR NAUSEOUS DRUGS USED.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended, sometimes, with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

A Certain Disease.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to "that bourne from whence no traveler returns." To such therefore Dr. Johnston pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable secrecy, and from his extensive practice in the first Hospitals of Europe and America, he can confidently recommend a safe and speedy cure to the unfortunate victim of this horrid disease.

It is a melancholy fact, that thousands fall victims to this dreadful disease, owing to the unskillfulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that dreadful poison, mercury, ruin the constitution, and either send the unfortunate sufferer to an untimely grave, or else make the residue of his life miserable.

Take Particular Notice!

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgencies and solitary habits which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either Business, Study, Society or Marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz:—Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects upon the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, Confusion of ideas, Depression of Spirits, Forebodings of Evil, Aversion of Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, etc., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health. Losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of consumption.

Dr. Johnston's Invigorating Remedy for Organic Weakness,

By this great and important remedy, weakness of the organs are speedily cured, and full vigor restored. Thousands of the most nervous and debilitated, who had lost all hope, have been immediately relieved. All impediments to Marriage, Physical or Mental Disqualification, Nervous Irritability, Tremblings and Weakness, or exhaustion of the most fearful kind, speedily cured by Doctor Johnston.

Young Men,

Who have injured themselves by a Certain Practice, indulged in when alone—a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school—the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, and the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons before contemplating should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospects hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

OFFICE No. 7 SOUTH FREDERICK ST. Baltimore, Md.

ALL SURGICAL OPERATIONS PERFORMED.

To Strangers.

The many thousands cured at this institution within the last 16 years, and the numerous important Surgical operations performed by Dr. J. witnessed by the Reporters of the papers and many other persons, notices of which appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guarantee that the afflicted will find a skilful and honorable physician.

DR. JOHNSTON is the only regular Physician advertising to cure private complaints.—His remedies and treatment are entirely unknown to others. Prepared from a life spent in the great hospitals of Europe and the first in this country, viz: England, France, the Blockley of Philadelphia, &c., and a more extensive practice than any other Physician in the world. His many wonderful cures and most important Surgical operations are a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted. Those who wish to be speedily and effectually relieved, should shun the numerous trifling imposters, who only ruin their health, and apply to him.

Take Notice.

☞ There are so many ignorant and worthless Quacks advertising themselves as Physicians, ruining the health of the already afflicted, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say, especially to those unacquainted with his reputation, that his credentials or diplomas always hang in his office.

☞ No letters received unless post-paid, and containing a stamp to use on the reply.

ANCIENT, MEDIEVAL, MODERN AND MILLENNIAL,

Also, Restoration of the Temple and City as invested by Titus.—Notices of its Jewish, Christian, and Heathen Antiquities—Its Present Political and Moral Condition—Future Prospects, &c.

This work is the result of investigations made during three and a half years' residence in the Holy City, with facilities for prosecuting researches never heretofore enjoyed. It was undertaken with special reference to the elucidation of the Holy Scriptures, the Talmud, the Works of Josephus, the Crusaders, and Pilgrim Chroniclers. The many valuable discoveries made in the Temple Enclosure, and other sacred localities, to which Dr. Barclay was admitted by special Firman, with permission to explore those hallowed spots, so jealously guarded for many centuries, and now for the first time presented to the Christian public, will introduce a new era in Sacred Topography.

AGRICULTURAL.

'YOUNG AMERICA' CORN AND COB MILL,
MANUFACTURED BY
S. MARCH, Norfolk, Va.

THE above Mill, which so far surpassed all others last season, has been improved, and made stronger and better than ever, and is now in the field carrying everything before it. It is the mill for strength, durability and swiftness.

I annex a list of premiums it has received this season, over the 'Little Giant,' 'Magic Mill,' Star Mill, Maynard's Mill, and all others that have come into competition with it:

First premium at the N. York State Fair.
First premium at the Ohio State Fair.
First premium at the Michigan State Fair.
First premium at the N. Carolina State Fair.
First premium at the Nashville (Tenn.) Fair.
First premium at one County Fair in N. York.
First premium at ten County Fairs in Ohio.
Trial of corn and cob mills at the North Carolina State Fair, October 1856.

The following table will show the time occupied by each of the Mills on exhibition in grinding half bushel of corn and cobs:

Young America, 2 minutes and 40 seconds.
Little Giant, 4 " 55 "
Magic Mill, 6 "
Sinclair & Co's Mill, two trials, average time, 6 minutes and 58 seconds.

Advantages of the Young America or Excelsior Mill over all others: 1st, great strength and durability; 2d, simplicity, (having but one set screw to graduate the quality of grinding, which renders it so simple that it may be managed by any ordinary farm hand;) 3d, it will grind more corn, or corn and cob, in the same time, and of same quality, than any other mill in use of the same size; 4th, economy—that part of the mill which is most liable to wear, being separate from the main body of the machine, can be renewed when worn out, at the small cost of $3. Thus in the Young America or Excelsior mill, I present the best, cheapest and most durable mill ever offered to the Farmer. This mill is of large size and greater capacity than any other mill ever sold at the same price

Price, including extra plates, $50.

I am also manufacturing Cart and Wagon Wheels, Farm Wagons, Carts, Trucks, Drays, Plows, Harrows, Cultivators, Corn Shellers, and Agricultural Implements generally, and am better prepared to furnish farmers and merchants than any other house in the city.

Call and examine my stock and be convinced that it is to your interest to patronize Southern enterprize. I am unwilling to believe that all the men in Virginia and North Carolina prefer to build up the North and impoverish the South.

I have also a Foundry connected with my factory, and solicit orders for Castings generally.
